Freyr has announced the launch of a web platform for Covid-19 driven with real-time information for manufacturers to make them go to the markets, right in time and support them in emergency use authorizations with global Regulatory authorities.

Freyr's exclusive Covid-19 web platform furnishes a gamut of Covid-19 related health authority/country/product-specific information, as well as deploys Covid-19 Regulatory Task Force (CRTF) to provide expert consultation. The platform is specifically targeted to provide:

- Product & Country Specific Registration Guidance/Support
- Covid-19 Related Regulatory Updates
- Exclusive Case Studies, Whitepapers & Thought Leadership Articles
- Free Consultation Support
- Free Regulatory Software Tools

"The outbreak of Covid-19 is a threat to the entire humankind, and the only way we foresee overcoming this is by standing together. The priority is to let manufacturers be aware of the global health authority regulations that can empower them to chalk out a robust plan for compliant global market-entry," said Suren Dheenadayalan, CEO, Freyr. "The launch of this platform is our first step towards information provision, and we are glad to deploy Covid-19 Regulatory Task Force (CRTF) to drive this with utmost precision. We strongly believe, together we can reach-out globally and succeed in saving lives," added Suren.
